

Privacy Policy

Respecting the privacy of visitors to this website, Cleanfield Energy TM Corp. will collect personal data such as name, address, telephone number, or email address that is voluntarily submitted by visitors. The company and/or its agents will use this data solely to comply with any request for information, submission of relevant applications, or in a manner otherwise disclosed or authorized by visitors. Cleanfield will not sell, disclose or otherwise transfer personal visitor information submitted to this website to any third party unless otherwise requested or authorized by visitors. Any non-personal communication, comments, ideas or material that visitors transmit to Cleanfield will be treated as confidential information.